The Open Source Initiative (OSI) is a non-profit corporation with global scope formed to educate about and advocate for the benefits of open source & to build bridges among different constituencies in the open source community.

Open source is a development method for software that harnesses the power of distributed peer review and transparency of process. The promise of open source is higher quality, greater reliability, more flexibility, lower cost, and an end to predatory vendor lock-in.

One of our most important activities is as a standards body, maintaining the Open Source Definition for the good of the community. The Open Source Initiative Approved License trademark and program creates a nexus of trust around which developers, users, corporations and governments can organize open source cooperation.

The Open Source Initiative
www.opensource.org
Deborah Bryant | Richard Fontana
Leslie Hawthorn | Patrick Masson
Mike Milinkovich | Simon Phipps
Allison Randal | Bruno Souza
Tony Wasserman | Luis Villa
Stefano Zacchiroli
855 El Camino Real, Ste 13A, #270
Palo Alto, CA 94301
United States

"Abstraction" By: fshtein
GNU Image Manipulation Program 2.6.12
Mozilla Firefox 30
Open Sans Font
Scribus 1.4.1
Ubuntu 12.04 LTS

The Open Source Initiative is a California public benefit corporation, with 501(c)(3) tax-exempt status, founded in 1998. All content licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License.
Something is bubbling up at the Open Source Initiative

Individual & Affiliate Memberships

Corporate

...educating developers, users and decision makers about the benefits of open source software, projects and collaboration techniques.

...advocacy takes the form of quiet persuasion rather than public activism - offering background to reporters, policy suggestions to politicians, and business cases to executives.

Open Source Definition
Public Awareness
Standards & Stewardship
License Review/Approval

Nexus of Trust
Government Liaison
Expert Consultation

LEARN MORE & JOIN TODAY
opensource.org